Kasori Shell Mounds Historic Site One of the World's Largest Shell Mounds

The Kasori Shell Mounds are aiming to be designated a Special Historic Site by the national government. The shell mounds are the only remains of a village that existed for over 2,000 years in the Jomon Period (14,000 – 300 BC). Hands-on events are available where visitors can experience making fire, try on Jomon clothing, and more.
